Good News Story – MORPHETT VALE OFFICE

Talisa Wilson is a young woman who has always come to her appointments with a bright, bubbly & warm personality, but underneath the exterior her true self has been somewhat a vast contrast from this.

Talisa has been a client of Interwork Morphett Vale since November 2008 and has in that time had many ups and downs. In 2009 the client managed to finish a Certificate II in retail, which at the time she was doubtful she would complete – but she did! It was identify that you would need support to complete the course as her anxiety issues were becoming a problem.

Through Interworks efforts there was a Work Experience set up for Talisa at the local retail store of K-Mart. However due to incompatibility she left the work trial after a half day.

Other situations have unfortunately made it difficult for Talisa to rise above the inner adversity and it seems that certain tribulations were following her.

Towards the end of 2009 there was some changes made and it seemed things were looking hopeful for Talisa to finding her dream job. She was committed to fighting old habits and creating a new path. Talisa was full of hope, new ideas and a new way of thinking. She realised that by making an effort that she could overcome the struggles that have plagued her for a long time.

In March 2010 our new Business Development Officer Sonica Mann sourced a vacancy with a clothing alterations business in Southern Adelaide. Instantly, we thought Talisa would be great in this environment and would contribute to the success of the business as well as her own personal growth.

Understandably, Talisa was nervous and apprehensive about her new job. With the support of the store owner, other staff and the team at Interwork, Talisa saw hope and we knew that the owner, the staff, the role, and the situation was perfect for Talisa and that for the first time she could see hope.

Talisa has found independence through employment and she continues to develop her own personal and professional success.
